97 Shops atop Chamundi Hill

DEMOLISHED

Many shops illegally allotted to Govt. servants, VVIP kin

Mysuru, Sept.12 (MTY&NNN)- In an early morning pre-planned demolition drive atop the Chamundi Hill, the District Administration razed 97 shops including 45 licenced and 52 unauthorised ones to the ground.

Surprisingly, many of the shops were illegally allotted to the relatives of elected representatives and all these years, the powerful lobby prevented the eviction.

This drive to vacate the shops on either side of the road leading to the Chamundeswari Temple was undertaken on the direction of District in-charge Minister V. Somanna on Sept.8. Three JCBs began the demolition at 6.15 am in the presence of a 360-strong Police contingent even as the shopkeepers watched their shops being demolished silently.

Tahsildar T. Ramesh Babu, Taluk Panchayat Executive Officer Krishnakumar, Mysuru City Corporation Chief Health Officer Dr. Jayanth and Chamundi Hill Gram Panchayat PDO Poornima led the demolition drive. The Police personnel included two ACPs, nine inspectors, 15 Sub-Inspectors, 31 Assistant Sub-Inspectors, 185 Police personnel, 4 KSRP Platoons and 4 City Reserve Police Platoons.

Ramesh Babu speaking to Star of Mysore said, "In all, there are 377 shops atop the Hill out of which only 45 are licenced. The remaining shops are all unauthorised and many of them were owned by people with powerful political connections with some of them building eight to ten shops and a few four to five and renting them out."

"A survey was done by the Gram Panchayat and it was found that there are 216 shops in the final survey. We demolished 97 shops this morning and the 45 genuine shop owners who have been identified have been given allotment letters from the Muzrai Department for them to move to the new Shopping Complex, containing 116 shops. The allotment letters will also be given to 52 other shop keepers whose shops were demolished," he said.

Unsung, unhonoured, unrecognised, unthanked

Crisis situations emerge unawares in daily life exposing our unpreparedness for salvaging the property or materials suffering damage and destruction. Succumbing to a feeling of shock and helplessness, solely because of lacking in ability to overcome the crisis, only increases the sense of misery. Examples of householders throwing up their hands on such occasions come in a long list. One cannot miss the anguish knocking down the home-maker at the break of dawn when the domestic help plays truant even after a seemingly long wait of a few minutes from her ETA (Expected Time of Arrival), what with the kitchenware lying unwashed, floors remaining unswept, clothes heading for laundry and so on. Next comes the gas stove that plays spoil-sport by not lighting up. Either the tap going dry or refusing to leak non-stop makes a demand on the head of the family to be smart enough and redeem himself from embarrassment, as he hunts for a plumber. Door-lock, telephone, television, geyser in the bathroom, the family's automobile and kitchen machine take their turn in testing the skills, or more often lack of skill, of the householders as they give the slip.

Thanks to the total dependence of urbanites in particular on all sorts of devices in daily use, gifted by their unknown inventors, living is marked by comfort, not to forget laziness, that the rustics have not yet emulated the urbanites, thus not hit by crisis situations mentioned above.

Commonly happening aberrations in daily life on the home front may have exposed the level and extent of unpreparedness to restore order among the householders and such happenings in public domain are different kettles of fish. Intra-city roads and underground drainage network breaking down, street-lights conking out, drinking water lines developing hefty leaks, full grown trees falling across stretches disrupting movement of vehicles and pedestrians have exposed the extent of apathy on the part of civic administration to provide amenities to the citizen. To cut a long story short, the factor of skill, in its widest meaning, plays a stellar role in both preventing crisis and salvaging the lost property, particularly infrastructure which is already in a state of disrepair all over the land.

In the foregoing backdrop, the initiative of the Union Government to develop skills for the youth under the India Skill Development Service, introduced in 2016, triggers hope that all be well again in the land. That apart, the workforce in various trades mentioned earlier, providing timely service to householders facing crisis, still remain unsung, unhonoured, unrecognised and unthanked by society. The Kannada idiom Sankata Bandaaga Venkata Ramana says it all.

BASKING IN WIFE'S GLORY: Uttar Pradesh Minister Sidharth Nath Singh, who has served as the National Spokesperson of the Bharatiya Janata Party (BJP) in an earlier stint, has a way with words. He chose to keep the record intact while sharing an anecdote at an MSME conclave in Lucknow. Singh, who recently shifted from the State Health to the MSME Ministry, said just because he was the head of the State Health Ministry, people had started prefixing "Dr." to his name. While he wasn't a doctor, the bespectacled Singh observed that he was nonetheless happy to bask in reflected glory. His wife is a Physician. — In Business Standard

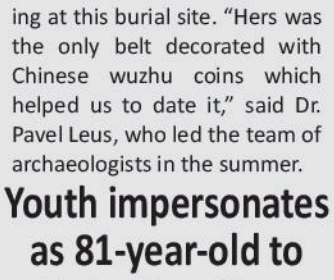
2,100-year-old 'iPhone' found in woman's grave

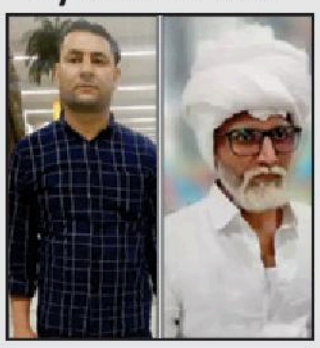


Russia: A remarkable 2,137-year-old object - said to resemble an "iPhone" - has been dug from a grave of a young woman. The structure is made of black gemstone jet - a type of lignite - with inlays of semi-precious stones.

It was found after the Ala-Tey necropolis, a reservoir near Sayano-Shushenskaya Dam, Russia's biggest power plant, was drained. Experts say the deceased was a fashionable young woman who lived in the Hunnu-era (Xiongnu) in rural South Russia. It is believed she actually wore the object as a belt buckle.

"Natasha's' burial with a Hunnu-era (Xiongnu) iPhone remains one of the most interesting at this burial site. "Hers was the only belt decorated with Chinese wuzhu coins which helped us to date it," said Dr. Pavel Leus, who led the team of archaeologists in the summer.

Youth impersonates as 81-year-old to fly to New York



New Delhi : A 32-year-old man was apprehended at New Delhi airport after he was found to be impersonating an 81-year-old to fly to New York.

Jayesh Patel was attempting to travel using a fake passport bearing the name Amrik Singh and the date of birth 1 February 1938, reports local media.

Patel had disguised himself by dying his beard white, using a wheelchair and wearing glasses and a turban, according to a statement released by India's Central Industrial Security Force (CISF). Security agents became suspicious when he refused to be frisked on the grounds that he was old and unable to stand.

Sub-Inspector Rajveer Singh from the CISF said Patel didn't make eye contact throughout the encounter. "The appearance and skin texture of the passenger seemed to be much younger than mentioned in the passport," the CISF said.

What's a good natural sleep remedy?

Most insomniacs have tried Valerian root as a sleep aid. If the Valerian didn't seem to work for you, give hops a try. More than just an ingredient in beer, hops has sleep-inducing properties as well. Studies have shown that hops decreases the time it takes to fall asleep, and it improves sleep quality.

Be a 'Great Lover': SC to Muslim man who married Hindu woman

New Delhi, Sept.12- "Be a loyal husband. Be a great lover too." This was Supreme Court's piece of advice yesterday to a Muslim man who claimed to have converted to Hinduism to marry a girl in Chhattisgarh.

The Top Court said it was in favour of inter-caste and inter-faith marriages but that the man must establish his bona fides. On the girl's father's claim that the marriage was a sham, a Bench of Justices Arun Mishra and M.R. Shah asked the man to file an affidavit, saying the Court wanted to ensure the girl's future was secure.

As the Counsel for the woman's father insisted that it was a racket to trap women, the Apex Court asked the man to file an affidavit and show his bona fides. It also queried the man on whether he had legally changed his name after the marriage in an Arya Samaj temple.

Advocate Mukul Rohatgi, appearing for the girl's businessman-father, contended it was not a simple case of interfaith marriage. He said the man had claimed to have converted to Hinduism and adopted a Hindu name to marry the girl at an Arya Samaj temple but he had got the marriage registered in his original Muslim name.

Advocate Rakesh Dwivedi, appearing for the man, submitted that the marriage cannot be challenged as the girl was a 24-year-old adult. "At the time of marriage, he had converted. But they (the girl's parents) were not ready for 'ghar vapsi'," he said.

As the Counsel for the woman's father said that his daughter does not need any protection, the Top Court sought a reply from the State Government while allowing the intervention application of the woman, as she was not made party to her parents' plea. The Counsel appearing for the woman contended she does not need any protection except from her father.

"We want to know whether he converted for marriage or otherwise," the Court said. "We are not averse to this kind of living together. We are all for interfaith and inter-caste marriages. Have you changed your name? Have you taken all legal steps to change the name," the Bench asked the Counsel.

The Court was quick to add that its queries were intended only to secure the future of the girl. Last year, a Bench headed by then Chief Justice Dipak Misra decided that the woman should go with the parents, purely if she intends to return. Subsequently, she started staying with her parents.

However, the Police later took the woman away from her parents' house, and the matter reached the Chhattisgarh High Court, which ruled that she had expressed willingness to be with her husband.

The Counsel appearing for her parents submitted before the Court that the husband has converted back to Islam and the Apex Court stated that it would look into the matter. At all this, the Court observed that it is not the matter of law but rather it is inclined to look into how the future would pan out for the woman.

"What if the husband leaves the woman? We are not against inter-religious or inter-caste marriage. Such marriages should be encouraged," it said, but also observed that women are left in the lurch by some partners.

Two vehicle-lifters in Police net

Mysuru, Sept.12 (VNS)- Vijayanagar Police have arrested two persons allegedly involved in two-wheeler thefts.

The accused have been identified as A. Stanley, 24, resident of Hinkal in Mysuru and K.K. Dhanush, 24, resident of Mullusoge village, Somwarpet taluk in Kodagu.

The Police said that the duo was arrested on Sept.7 when they were moving suspiciously on Hunsur Main Road near Hinkal Traffic Single on a motorcycle which had no number plate.

On interrogation, they are said to have confessed to be involved in the lifting high-end motorcycles in Vijayanagar, Hebbal, Saraswathipuram, Jayalakshmipuram and Kushalnagar Police Station limits. They also confessed to have snatched away a vanity bag with a mobile phone from a woman in Jayalakshmipuram Police limits.

The Police, who got the custody of the two after producing them before the Court, recovered 11 motorcycles (Yamaha R15 - 1, Bajaj Apache - 3, Bajaj Pulsar - 5 and KTM Duke - 2) and a Apple iPhone worth Rs.21.45 lakh from the accused.

Unidentified body found

Mysuru, Sept.12 (US)- Railway Police have found the body of an unidentified man aged about 35, oval-faced, dark complexion, medium built, 5ft tall, wearing grey coloured shorts and T-shirt with yellow and black checks lying on the railway track between Nanjangud and Chamarajanagar on Sept.8.

The body has been shifted to K.R. Hospital mortuary. Next of the kin of the deceased, if any, should contact the Mysuru Railway Police on Ph: 0821-2516579.

VOICE OF THE READER

Reduce traffic fines and reform implementation of rules

Sir,

The new Motor Vehicles Act prescribing heavy penalties even for minor offences may have been enacted to reduce accidents but it has created widespread anguish and fear because the implementation of this rule leaves much to be desired.

Firstly, here the Police are given huge amount of authority and discretion to implement the rule. As usual they will lurk at some tricky location and catch unsuspecting riders only with an intention to collect fines (at least so far this has been the practice) but you hardly see any Policeman at the traffic signals and main roads where the actual violation of rules happens. Even this morning I saw blatant violation of rules by some two-wheeler riders, possibly minors, in a busy traffic junction bang in front of a Traffic Police Station and there was no one to catch and punish such errant vehicle users.

Secondly, the parking / no parking areas are not demarcated properly and many motorists have no knowledge that they are breaking rules. Police should first mark in clear sign boards all the no parking zones and if required "zero tolerance zones" with timings so that the motorists are forewarned about the consequences of parking in a particular place.

We in Mysuru have somehow got habituated to faint, masked and worn out signs by the Police which are not at all clear. Police use such inadequacies to easily catch hold of people and slap them with heavy penalties.

Thirdly, collecting of fines itself is very authoritarian as one has to cough up huge amount of cash on the spot as otherwise the vehicle is impounded. Why not give the motorists some time to produce documents and also implement payment by credit cards and other means? Why collect cash that is a sure way, or as per the new penalty structure a highway, to corruption? Imagine the cops hauling huge amounts of cash in the night to their homes or to the Police Station after a particularly productive day and then laughing all the way to the bank?

The new rules make the Traffic Police the prosecutor, the jury and the executioner. Even trying to prove that you are innocent could land you into more trouble as the new law makes provision for slapping more fines for "arguing with the Police."

Certain provision like PUC certificates are very opaque as even a polluting vehicle can get a certificate by "adjusting" with the testing agency whereas a brand new vehicle without a certificate can attract heavy penalties.

Isn't it time our State Government also follows the Gujarat way by reducing these heavy fines on rational lines, which otherwise can wipe out a family's monthly income? Can we look forward to reforms in traffic violations booking and punishment so that the genuine riders are spared and can take out their vehicles without anxiety and fear?

The World's Only Sanskrit Daily printed and published from Mysuru turns GOLD

By Sreekanth Datta

Mysuru, Sept. 12- Many have declared Sanskrit to be a dead language. Though Sanskrit may be the least-spoken language in India, it is far from being done and dusted. Ethnologue, a reference work that provides information and statistics about living languages around the world, is providing 'EGIDS level of 4' which means that the language is in vigorous use and within the group of all living languages.

While there are numerous newspapers available in a plethora of languages, here is a Sanskrit Newspaper published in Mysuru, the World's Oldest and probably the Only Sanskrit newspaper which is seeking attention from the Government for its very survival in its Golden Jubilee year. Yes, the 'Sudharma' newspaper published from Mysuru has turned 50.

2,000 years of treasure

"If somebody asks me why Sanskrit, one can give a long list of benefits but most importantly, I think, it is that the language opens up a new avenue to explore treasures of Sanskrit literature spanning over 2,000 years. And the knowledge one acquires is priceless," says K.V. Sampath Kumar, Managing Editor of Sudharma daily.

Star of Mysore spoke to Sampath Kumar, now 63, at their decades-old-home-cum-press established in 1940s and he revealed a number of interesting facts and events related to the newspaper.

A two-page newspaper

Sudharma is a mix of political, civic, sports and culture coverage. Reaching 4,000 print subscribers by post, the A3 size 5-column two-pager with a 47-year publishing history also has a ten-year-old electronic paper version that reaches 1.5 lakh readers internationally. It features news ranging from Government news to question papers. All these are available in Sanskrit language.

"All around the world, we are known as the only Sanskrit daily. Last year even 'The New York Times', under the title 'Keeping Sanskrit Alive on Newsprint' had carried the story about our efforts. Amitabh Bachchan, in his 10th session of Kaun Banega Crorepati' had asked the question to participant, 'What is the name of the world's only Sanskrit Daily published since 1970," reveals Sampath Kumar.

K.V. Sampath Kumar, Managing Editor of Sudharma daily, supervising the printing operations at his press.

Anniversary Souvenir

With his eyes shining with enthusiasm, he added, "as part of the Golden Jubilee celebrations, we have plans to bring out a special edition or a Souvenir of Sudharma, which will be released on Nov. 24 at Palace Grounds in Bengaluru. We have invited Prime Minister Modi for this event and we are hopeful and awaiting a positive reply from the PM's Office."

7-hour job

'Srilipi' is used to compose news and Sudharma is registered with news agencies and that news has to be translated into Sanskrit. "We need six to seven hours to bring out the issue — composing to printing. Both Sampath Kumar and his wife K.S. Jayalakshmi are proficient in Sanskrit and have an excellent command over the language. Sampath Kumar performs an all-in-one role: From reporter to Editor and Publisher.

Today, Sudharma is read at Sanskrit Vidyapeetha and other academic institutions, Kendriya Vidyalayas and also public libraries in Karnataka, Jammu and Kashmir, Odisha, Tamil Nadu, Kerala, Assam and Rajasthan.

Decoding Mythology

Dr. Devdutt Pattanaik - Author, Speaker, Illustrator, Mythologist

Mythology of Harappa

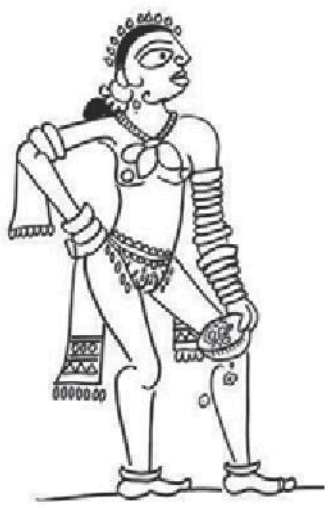
The Harappan civilisation thrived between 2500 BCE and 1900 BCE, lasting six centuries, existing 4,000 years ago. In these cities, we find seals with images that give a tantalising glimpse of a mythology that may have thrived in those cities before the arrival of Indo-European myths 500 years later, around 1500 BCE.

We really do not know what the myths of the Harappans were; but we can speculate, based on the seals and also using certain peculiar measurements and orientations of architecture found in the cities. For example, most cities are aligned in the East-West direction, while burials took place in North South direction, revealing directions had meaning.

During the height of the Harappan civilisation, just before the Sun rose on the spring equinox, the constellation Pleiades (in the House of Taurus) could be seen in the East. Today, in the same location, we see the House of Pisces giving way to the House of Aquarius. Now the Pleiades constellation or the Kritika constellation has six or seven stars. A seal showing seven women has been found in Harappa. Even today, across India, we find the worship of seven maidens known as Sapt Matrika. In Puranic myths, they are considered mothers of the warlord-God Skanda, terrifying Goddesses, causing childhood disease and miscarriage, for those who do not respect them.

Other seals show images of a woman emerging from a tree, and a woman fighting two tigers, while standing on an elephant. Was this an early form of Goddess worship? There are seals of buffaloes being tamed and impaled, of mighty bulls, suggesting the myth of Durga killing Mahisha and her consort Shiva, who rides the bull Nandi. Women wore sindoor and bangles, which are symbols of marriage even today.

The most popular seal is of the horned-God, seated in, what in yoga is known as the throne position, surrounded by animals, leading to speculations that this is the proto-Shiva in the form of Pashupati.



The images of people leaping over bulls and buffaloes again indicates the cult of virility, complementing the fertility cult of the Goddess. These seals could refer to Rishabha, the Jain teacher, associated with asceticism and whose symbol is the bull. Rishabha is the foundation of civilisation in Jainism and that Harappa seems more associated with trading than with warfare, does make us wonder if this civilisation could have practiced an early form of Jainism.

We know that the peepal plant was valued in this culture. It later came to be associated with the Buddha as well as Jain sages and Hindu yogis, including Shiva. We know that water was very important in Harappan culture, indicated by tanks and the understanding of the sewage and plumbing systems. Relative standardisation of cities reveals some form of central control, and respect for authority and alignment. The burial rites reveal that there was clearly social structure and hierarchy in these cities, and it was not an egalitarian culture as once assumed.

That the Harappans practiced burials, along with pots and pets, and jewellery, reveals that rebirth was not the foundational myth of these cities. They believed in afterlife. The idea of rebirth, the foundation of Buddhist, Jain and Hindu mythology became dominant only later in the Upanishadic era which was roughly 2,500 years ago. In rebirth, the body is cremated and the bones cast in the river in the hope of rebirth or liberation. There is no concept of afterlife.

Don't we all ?

By N.K.A. Ballal,
Retd. Sr. Vice-President, ITDC

A simple story: I parked in front of a Mall, wiping my car when a tramp approached me. From the looks of him, he had no car, no clean clothes and no money.

Ballal

There are times in your life when you feel generous but sometimes you just don't want to be bothered. This was one of those "Do not want to be bothered" days.

"I hope he does not ask me for some money," I thought.

He did not.

He sat down on the curb and after a few minutes he spoke.

"That is a very pretty car," he said.

He was ragged but he had an air of dignity around him. His scraggy beard looked good.

I said "thanks" and continued to wipe the car.

He sat quietly, the expected pleas for money never came.

As the silence between us widened something inside me said, "Ask him if he needs any help."

I was sure he would say "yes" but I held true to the inner voice. "Do you need any help," I asked him.

He answered in three simple but profound words that I shall never forget.

We often look for wisdom in great men and women. We expect it from those of higher learning and accomplishments.

I expected nothing but an outstretched grimy hand. But he spoke the three words that shook me. "DON'T WE ALL," he said.

I was feeling high and mighty successful and important above a tramp in the street until those three words shook me up.

"DON'T WE ALL?"

I also needed help.

Maybe not for money or a meal or a place to stay but I also need help sometime in my life.

I reached in my wallet and gave him enough to get a warm meal.

No matter how much you have, no matter how much you have accomplished, you need help too.

No matter how little you have, no matter how much loaded you are with problems, even without money or a place to sleep, you can give help.

Even if it is just a compliment, you can give that.

You never know when you may see someone that appears to have it all but they may be waiting for you to give them what they don't have or a different perspective of life. A glimpse of something beautiful !

May be he was sent by a power that is great and wise to Minister to people too comfortable in themselves.

May be God looked down, called an Angel, dressed him like a tramp, then said, "Go Minister to that man cleaning the car, that man needs help."

Don't we all?

When I started to ponder on my own life I could not even remember the number of times I required help and someone did come forward.

During my final year of the Catering College, I recollect, I did not have enough money to pay my final year fees. The College had politely told me that I could not sit for the exams if I did not pay the fees. Out of sheer desperation I wrote to my uncle with whom I had not been in touch for years, with little hope. In fifteen days the money arrived in the form of a Money Order — 650 rupees, big money in the sixties.

The greatness of my uncle was that he never ever mentioned about this help ever to me or to any other relative including his own daughters. I was so inspired by this that in my service I have gone out of my way to help people in matters of promotions, postings etc., and not brag about it. That is the reason even after ten years of my retirement from active service people come from all over the country and inquire about my health whenever they drop in to this city.

A second incident which I remember vividly happened in Tirupathi. My father's pocket had been picked by a pickpocket and we were in the middle of our tour without a single penny! Suddenly out of nowhere, a Godsend friend appeared and on hearing our plight he loaned us enough money for the return journey !

Remember, everyone requires "help" sometime in life. Why do the rich and the famous throng all the spiritual leaders? Simple, for help to achieve peace of mind and moksha ! A man or a woman cannot live in isolation. So, as much as possible, try to help. Every help need not be in forms of money but it can be a service too. We do not want to hear another story of a man lying on the road badly injured and nobody comes forward to help but everyone around busy taking selfies as it happened in Jaipur !

To conclude, "Don't we all?" Readers, ponder, everyone of us have required help in some form or the other and we get it from unknown and unexpected quarters too !

First District Makkala Sahitya Sammelana

'Build bridge not wall between humans'

Mysuru, Sept. 12 (US&RKB)- District Kannada Sahitya Parishat (KSP) has organised the first Mysuru District Makkala Sahitya Sammelana at Kalamandira here this morning.

The Sammelana President M.S. Arjun, a student of Marimallappa PU College and a budding poet were brought to the venue in a colourful procession from Freedom Fighters Park near Shantala Theatre.

District KSP President Dr. Y.D. Rajanna was also seated beside Arjun in the specially decorated horse-drawn tonga accompanied by an array of folk troupes performing attractive folk dances in colourful costumes.

Inaugurating the stage programme Film Director T.S. Nagabharana observed that children were more attracted to mobile phones than books. He bemoaned that mobile Apps have come even for basic learning. He opined that literature is not just books but an experience to realise facts. He advised children to listen well first with concentration and added that reading would always sharpen knowledge.

Addressing the gathering Arjun regretted that children have been losing the pleasant time with grandparents at hometown. He observed that too much indulgence with cellphones has taken off the good company of friends. He contended that a walk has come up between humans which should be replaced by a bridge. He said that good meaningful messages like feeding food and water to birds are only circulated among friends on phone but not practised.

Earlier, Mayor Pushpalatha Jagannath hoisted the National Flag at Kalamandira premises.

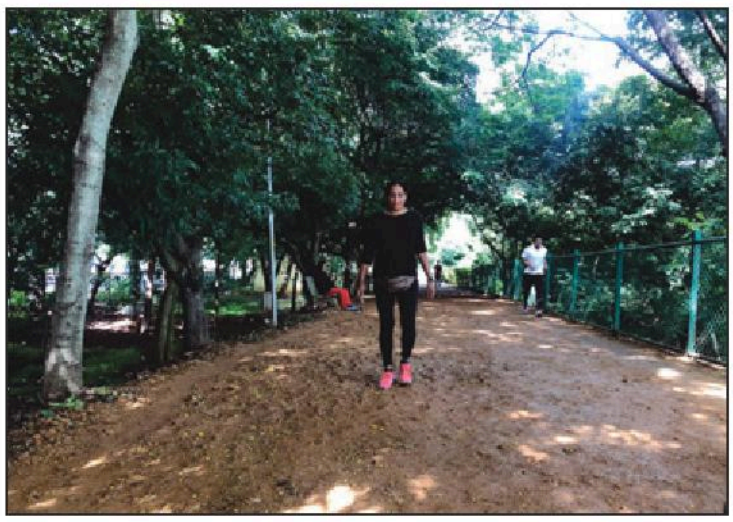
The procession was flagged off by ZP President Parimala Shyam. District Minister V. Somanna released the book 'Munjavu'.

Ganapathy Sachchidananda Ashrama Junior Seer Sri Datta Vijayananda Swamiji graced the occasion. Writer K. Rajkumar delivered the special lecture.

Child artiste of Drama Juniors fame M. Mahendra entertained the children with humorous dialogues. The inaugural programme was followed by a cultural programme, a seminar, Kavi Goshti and felicitation to achievers.

Welcome to a slushy Kukkarahalli Walkway

- Regular walkers say mud has been unscientifically dumped on walking path
- University authorities justify move as they followed District Minister's directive



Mysuru, Sept. 12 (RK&BCT)- Henceforth, you may need gumboots instead of sports shoes if you want to walk or run along Kukkarahalli Lake. Reason: The Lake's walking path has become a slushy as red mud is being dumped all along, making it slippery and unsafe.

Several walkers called Star of Mysore office this morning to express their anguish at what they called 'senseless' act by the authorities concerned especially when Dasara is round the corner when the tourists are expected to come here. Surprisingly, they have offloaded truckloads of mud on an otherwise perfect walking path.

Fitness enthusiasts, who landed on the Lake for their regular walk, said that at places, rainwater has collected in small slush-pools, becoming a breeding ground for mosquitoes. Not only this, several truckloads of mud have been kept ready by the side of the walking path to be spread on it.

"This is a running or walking strip and not a 'Garadi Mane' (wrestler's house) to have red soil. Fitness enthusiasts from the age of 8 to 85 use the path every day. If the authorities do not have the knowledge about this, they should consult professionals," said a regular walker.

Another octogenarian complained that he would recommend orthopaedicians to put up their advertisement hoardings here. "I am sure that they will get many clients as people will sustain injuries and fractures walking on the slushy path. Also, I recommend private ambulance owners to station their vehicles for some serious business," he said.

'We followed the Minister's directive'

Star of Mysore contacted the University of Mysore that is the custodian of the Lake and learnt that the mud has been laid on the walking path as per the directions of Mysuru District Minister V. Somanna. University Vice-Chancellor Prof. G. Hemantha Kumar said that when Somanna came to inspect the Lake last week, several walkers complained that they have sustained injuries as stones were protruding on the walking path. They complained that they tripped and fell due to these stones.

"The Minister instructed us to dump mud to cover the protruding stones all along the path. Also he has asked us to open the toilets in the Lake premises and provide water which we have done. Unfortunately for us, after laying the mud, it has rained and it has turned slushy. This is the best way to cover the path and we have also consulted the experts," he said.

Prof. Hemantha Kumar added that this morning, the Minister visited the Lake and appreciated the works. "In fact, he had good words for us and I was present during the visit. We also put lights on some stretches that were dark," the VC said.

University confused

On the criticism faced by the University for laying mud, the VC said, "There are two groups among walkers. One group is against any changes on the tank bund and lighting as it disturbs the bird species. These are hard-core environmentalists. The other group is the common people who usually feed dogs and want some facilities to be improved at the Lake. We are split between the two and we are confused," he said.

Prof. Hemantha Kumar regretted that the University faces criticism for any good work it does. "We are blamed for everything and we are criticised for everything. Here we just followed the instructions from the Minister and we are again targeted," he said.

GTD absent at HDK's 'Chintana Mantana'

Mysuru, Sept. 12 (PM&VNS) - Like many had expected former Minister and Chamudeshwari JD(S) MLA G.T. Devegowda (GTD) abstained himself from attending the party's 'Chintana-Mantana' programme.

The programme was organised to discuss JD(S) party's recent performance in the Lok Sabha election as well as other issues within the party organisation at Hotel Rio Meridian in Bannimantap, here this morning.

Former Chief Minister H.D. Kumaraswamy is seen addressing the JD(S) party leaders and workers during 'Chintana Mantana' meeting held in city this afternoon as former Karnataka Exhibition Authority Chairman Abdul Azeez (Abdulla), T. Narasipur MLA Ashwin Kumar, K.R. Nagar MLA S.R. Mahesh, JD(S) City President K.T. Cheluvegowda and JD(S) City Women's Wing President Prema Shankaregowda look on.

Today's meeting was attended by JD(S) MLAs, Zilla Panchayat members, Taluk Panchayat members, Mysuru City Corporators and party leaders of Mysuru district. However, MLA G.T. Devegowda was not to be seen at the venue. According to sources, the former Minister is said to have skipped the meeting as he was not invited.

It may be recalled that GTD was unhappy when he was allotted the portfolio (Higher Education) in the previous JD(S)-Congress Coalition Government. And since, then there have been rumours of a rift between him and senior members of his party.

More recently, the former Minister had openly expressed his displeasure after being ignored while nominating office bearers for the party. Adding to this, was his recent spat with fellow party MLA S.R. Mahesh, are said to be some of the reasons that the sources have sighted for his absence in today's meeting.

HDK requests media to stay out

Former CM H.D. Kumaraswamy, who visited Mysuru for the first time after stepping down from the office, requested the media persons to leave the venue where 'Chintana-Mantana' programme was being held after the inauguration.

He said it was an internal meeting of the party and did not want media's presence. Speaking during inauguration, the former CM asked the JD(S) leaders and party workers present to speak their mind and express their opinion freely when session begins as their inputs were valuable for the party.

MLAs S.R. Mahesh and Ashwin Kumar, former Mayors, formers Deputy Mayors, Corporators, ZP members and other party leaders were present.

Shops atop Hill demolished

Executive Officer Krishnakumar said, "The shopkeepers were all taken into confidence two to three days ago and they were asked to vacate the shops. They cooperated and removed all the items from the shop by last night itself. This morning they were clearing a few other things that they wanted."

"In the survey that was done, it was found that more than genuine shopkeepers, there were at least eight to ten shops owned by one person and surprisingly some of them were in even government service who owned shops. But the final survey revealed that there are 216 shops," he said.

Asked what the next step was, Ramesh Babu said that apart from the 116 shops in the new complex, there will be 100 shops of 8ftX8ft to be built in Kalnar sheets near the Multi-level Parking complex where those who were doing petty business will be shifted.

There are still nearly 100 shops, hotels and petty shops in the vicinity of the Mahishasura statue and near the Dasoha Bhavan and they have been served three months notice to vacate, he added.

The whole idea of this demolition drive atop the Chamundi Hill was to create an ambience resembling the Tirupati Temple also located atop a hill, said Ramesh Babu.

Shopkeepers' woes

Rajashekar a shopkeeper and a few others who were watching the demolition, speaking to Star of Mysore, said that they had been doing this business since more than 30 years and it had not caused any problem. Even when Prime Minister Narendra Modi had visited the temple, the PM's Security SPG (Special Protection Group) had not raised any objections of clearing the shops.

Even when Siddharamiah was the Chief Minister, he used to frequently visit the Hill and there was no mention of the shops on the roadside causing problems. "But now, our livelihood has been destroyed," they charged.

They also said since they depended on Dasara sales as tourists to the Hill was very high during this period, the demolition and shifting of shops could have been done after Dasara.

Shop No. 31

A shopkeeper on condition of anonymity said that Shop No.31 in the new Shopping Complex had been allotted to a government servant which is against the rules. He wondered how such a blatant violation could take place and alleged that there were very influential local leaders who had managed to get allotted four to five shops in the new complex.

Lansdowne building wall collapses

Mysuru, Sept.12(YDS&NNN)- A portion of the wall of the rear portion of Lansdowne building collapsed on a push cart suddenly yesterday. Luckily, no one was injured in the incident as it was raining and the push-cart person had covered it with tarpaulin and seeking shelter elsewhere. The weakening of the walls is causing concern for the public and to the shopkeepers who have set up shops right opposite the building.

It may be recalled that a portion of the Lansdowne Building had collapsed in Aug. 2012, killing four persons and from then the building is lying unattended. In the meantime, the building is slowly falling apart with miscreants doing away with windows and doors. A few of the windows on the rear side of the building have rusted and walls have developed cracks and are on the stage of collapse.

Stinking: There is a Conservancy Lane on the backside of the building and the public, in spite of the efforts of the Government to keep the city clean through Swachh Bharat Mission, use it as a public toilet. As a result the whole place stinks and though this problem has been brought to the notice of MCC officials, they continue to neglect it, allege the shopkeepers behind Lansdowne Building.

CM to inaugurate Parking Complex

Chief Minister B.S.Yediyurappa will inaugurate the Multi-level Parking Complex and the shopping complex on Sept.19. The debris are being removed and the whole place cleaned.

Shanthala Academy to present
'Glimpses of art forms' on Sept.13

Shanthala Academy of Music and Dance, an institution dedicated for promotion of art, has organised a variety of programmes titled 'The glimpses of art forms' at Ganabharathi in Kuvempunagar here on Sept.13 at 6 pm.

This Institute was founded in 2001 in Hubballi and in 2008, was shifted to Mysuru. It is headed by Shantala Vattam, a noted danseuse, vocalist, a stage actress, and a former Syndicate Member of Dr. Gangubai Hangal University of Music and Performing Arts, Mysuru.

As part of Academy celebrations, there will be creative Music compositions and Dance choreographies by Shantala, presented by herself and her disciples.

The programme includes Music, Bharatanatyam, Kathak, Tabla Solo by Shashank Vattam, disciple of Pandit Bheema Shankar and 'Seasons - a Nrutya Roopaka.' Shantala Vattam will also be performing rare items in Kathak, where she herself is singing, alongside dancing.

The creative choreography 'Seasons' by Shantala, for 17th Century Italian Violinist Maestro Antonio Vivaldi's Music, depicting four Seasons — Spring, Summer, Autumn and Winter — was quite a challenging work as it took multiple hours of research right from music analysis to subtle ballet choreography. Nine students will be singing while 10 students are performing Bharatanatyam and 10 are performing Seasons.

Vidu. Nandini Eswer, mentor of Shantala, will bless the students.

Nirmala Mathapati, Deputy Director, Department of Archaeology and Museums, will be the chief guest. Dr. C.G. Betsurmath, Hon. Secretary, JSS Mahavidyapeetha, will be the guest of honour.

Shantala has completed her BFA from Mysore University, in Music, Dance and Drama and has bagged three Gold Medals, also completed her Master's in Karnatak, has been the disciple of Gangubai Hangal, Pt. Nagnath Wodeyar and Pt. Sripad Hegde.

All music and dance enthusiasts may attend. Entry for the programme is free.

Mysuru, Sept.12- Sri Nadabrahma Sangeetha Sabha, Mysuru, conducted its Annual State-level Competition for youths in Indian Classical Music from Aug.23 to 25 at the Sabha's G.R. Dasappa Mini Hall.

In all, 10 artistes were short-listed amongst applicants for the finals, which was judged by Vidu. Neeraja Achuta Rao, Vidu. Smitha Sri Kiran and Vidu. Kala R. Koviladi. The following participants have won the prizes:

Yoga Adwaith Veturi, Bengaluru - Karnatak vocal (First Prize "Nadakishora" Title and Bellary M. Venkateshachar Memorial Best Male Vocalist); C.S. Keshava Chandra, Mysuru - Karnatak Flute (Second Prize); Raam Manikanadan, Mysuru - Karnatak vocal (Third Prize); Aishwarya Manikarnike, Bengaluru - Karnatak vocal (Third Prize); C.V. Shruthi, Mysuru (Best Violinist); Malladi Shri Aravind, Mysuru (Best Mridangist).

The prizes will be distributed during the Anniversary celebrations of the Sabha on Jan.5, 2020.

Staging of 'Manteswamy Katha Prasanga' tomorrow

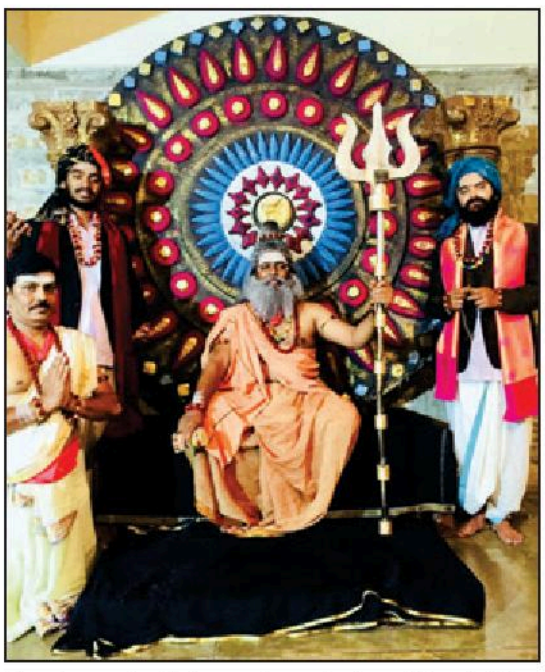
Mysuru, Sept.12- GPIER Theatre Group will be staging the play 'Manteswamy Katha Prasanga' tomorrow (Sept.13) at Kiru Rangamandira in Kalamandira premises at 6.30 pm. The play, written by H.S. Shivaprakash, is directed by former Rangayana artiste Mime Ramesh.

'Manteswamy Katha Prasanga' is one of the most important oral epics of Karnataka. Manteswamy was a Veerashaiva saint and a folk hero who lived during the 15th century.

The play begins with the arrival of Manteswamy in Kalyana, who makes a dramatic appearance on a dung heap at the entrance of the city. Basavanna's wife arrives there and takes him to the Palace where a confrontation between the Sharanas and Manteswamy takes place. His greatness is proved equivocally and that heralds the victory of the lowly over insincere devotees. This journey is punctuated by his efforts to acquire disciples.

In this play the characters represent a stage in civilisation when technology had to be liberated from its hereditary practitioners.

The music for the play is scored by Devanand Varaprasad and costume is designed by N. Divya.



Raghavendra Achappa has designed the lighting while Nithin Kodiyalbyle has provided stage design.

Tickets are priced at Rs.50 each. For details, contact Mob: 90193-70060.

Amazing recall from one who played Tipu's role in the film 'Hamsageethe'

This event took place 42 years ago. It was engineered and created by the legendary journalist Y.N. Krishnamurthy (YNK). He invited me to the usual "Gund" party in his house and had also invited Girish Karnad, Prema Karanth and Gowri Sundar.

Usually YNK's "gund" parties started at 7 O' Clock and ended by 9 O' Clock followed by his world famous "hitakavarehuli." YNK started the conversation by saying that G.V. Iyer is shooting the film "Hamsageethe" and I believe the progress is fantastic and Ananth Nag is playing the role of legendary Bhairavi Venkata Subbaiah. It has been decided by all of us that you are tailor made for the role of Tipu Sultan and for your information, we leave tomorrow to Chitradurga where the shooting is taking place. The Unit car has already been arranged by Gowri Sundar and will pick you up in your house at 9 O' Clock morning.

I did not even get a time to think about it. That's the kind of total decision making by YNK. The group of four consisting of YNK, myself, Gowri Sundar and Prema Karanth left for Chitradurga next morning. We landed at Chitradurga at 4 O' Clock in the afternoon and checked into their usual hotel Roopavani (which I am sure still continuing its services). The entire film unit were staying in that hotel. It was decided that both of us, YNK and I, will stay in Ananth's room for the night.

Next morning, I started off with a shock when a barber made me a complete "bola" which was the way the Tipu was supposed to look like. The forenoon was spent in one hour make up to me and also my emperor dressing plans by Prema Karanth. I/We were ready for a shoot by 3 O' clock in the afternoon.

G.V. Iyer, the Director had spotted an elevated rock which had been converted as Tipu's temporary throne for me to sit on. The entire assemblage stood in front of me sitting on the rock, dressed like Sultan Tipu. All the others including Ananth (Bhairavi Venkata Subbaiah) who had positioned in places in front of me standing. I began the dialogue addressing it to Bhairavi Venkata Subbaiah, "I would like to hear Bhairavi raga sung by you with all your expertise." Venkata Subbaiah did not respond and just looked at the Sultan with contempt for which the reaction from Tipu was "my desires and orders are one and the same. If the answer is yes you can sing Bhairavi to me before tomorrow evening otherwise I will instruct my commander to cut your tongue off," for which Venkata Subbaiah answers "I sing Bhairavi only in front of Devi." Tipu's answer for that is,"we will see about it tomorrow". The next day the shooting was in front of Devi temple from inside of which Venkata Subbaiah is singing a magnificent exposition of "Bhairavi" raga. We also see the Sultan sitting in front with a change over clothing of a common citizen but "bhale, bhale" at the singing of Bhairavi raga by Venkata Subbaiah. Suddenly the whole thing comes to a stop when a scream comes from inside the Devi temple and an announcement is made saying that music has stopped because Venkata Subbaiah has chopped off his tongue himself. The last scene of the movie come on when Tipu Sultan is beating his head in agony "Ayyoyyo, what did I do."

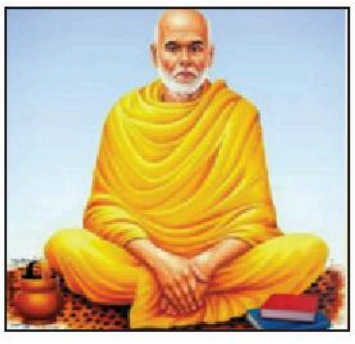
Narayana Guru Jayanti



Mysuru, Sept.12- Marking Brahmashri Narayana Guru's Jayanti, District Administration and Department of Kannada and Culture have jointly organised a function at 10.30 am tomorrow at Kalamandira here.

District Minister V. Somanna will inaugurate the function. MLA L. Nagendra will preside.

Plan in advance for Dasara-2020

Tourism Minister chairs District-level officials meeting

Mysuru, Sept. 12 (RK&VNS) - Tourism Minister C.T. Ravi, who was in city since Sept. 10, pulled up the officials for their laxity in preparing for the Dasara-2019 festivities in advance.

Addressing the District-level officials during the Dasara Preparation Meeting at the Deputy Commissioner's (DC) Office yesterday, the Minister asked the officials to come out with short-term as well as long-term plans to promote Dasara at National and International levels.

Tourism Director Ramesh, who was also present in the meeting, told Minister Ravi that the Department would be setting up a stall at Dasara Exhibition and would also place advertisements in various newspapers, magazines and social media platforms.

PUBLICITY: The Tourism Minister suggested the officials to give publicity for Dasara in Airports, Railway Stations and Bus Stations besides placing ads in All India Radio (AIR).

"Tourists, who come to Mysuru to take part in Dasara festivities, must be informed about nearby tourist spots. It is a must to come out with a concrete plan to ensure tourists, who come to city on Day-1 of Dasara, stay for all the 10 days and visit tourist destinations in and around Mysuru," he added.

OPEN BUS: Tourism officials informed the Minister that like last year they would be getting Open Buses from Bengaluru Metropolitan Transport Corporation (BMTC) to take the tourists around heritage spots.

When a Department official informed that last year Rs. 50 lakh was spent on 11-minute 3D mapping project, Minister Ravi asked the officials not to spend lavishly the tax-payers' money and added that he could produce three-four short movies with the same amount on Dasara.

District Minister V. Somanna, who also attended, asked the officials to ensure that publicity materials had the photographs of Chief Minister, District Minister and the Minister concerned.

VINTAGE CAR RALLY: He asked the officials to advance the vintage car rally by a day instead of Sept. 29 stating that it would be a good opportunity for tourists and local residents to have a glimpse of the vintage beauties.

DESI GAMES & CHITRA-SANTHE: The traditional and desi games will be held at Kiru Rangamandira in Kalamandira premises for which the date is yet to announced.

Chitrasanthe, which received a huge response last year, will be held at Krishnaraja Boulevard on Oct. 5 between 9 am and 5 pm.

TREASURE HUNT will be held at JSS Urban Haat while the Auto Cross will be held at Lalitha Mahal Helipad on Oct. 7 and Oct. 8; Kite Festival on Oct. 7 and Adventure Sports at Varuna Lake and KRS backwaters.

Minister Ravi instructed the officials to complete all Dasara-related works within the commencement of the festival; provide mobile toilets and other basic facilities at various locations apart from Tourist Guides.

HERITAGE EVENTS: The Department of Archaeology, Heritage and Museums Deputy Director Nirmala Matapathi told the meeting that they had organised various programme including heritage walk dressed in heritage attire (Oct. 1), heritage hair styling (Oct. 3), heritage games (Oct.3), heritage selfie week, Mane Mane Gombe among others during Dasara.

MP Pratap Simha, MLAs S.A. Ramdas and L. Nagendra, City Police Commissioner K.T. Balakrishna, SP C.B. Ryshyanth, KSTDC MD Kumar Pushkar, Additional SP Sneha, ZP CEO K. Jyothi, MUDA Commissioner P.S. Kantharaju, MCC Commissioner Gurudutta Hegde, Heritage Commissioner T. Venkatesh, Deputy Director (Tourism) Janardhan and other District-level officials were present.

Set up Village Tourism Committees

Mysuru, Sept.12-The Tourism Department must form Village Tourism Committees across the district, as the forest that runs through these villages are a part of them, said Tourism and Kannada and Culture Minister C.T. Ravi.

He was chairing a progress review meeting of the Tourism and Kannada and Culture Departments at the DC Office auditorium, here yesterday and said that to introduce the unique history of every village to the people, PUC and under-graduate students must be selected and encouraged to collect information on rural art, their vocation, tradition and religious practises.

This digitised information must be uploaded on the website and through this approach one will come to understand the history of the villages. This must be taken up at the State-level too, he added.

He said that he had directed the officials to introduce the tourists to the culture of cultivation in Mandya district and Ramanagar's food culture. Similarly, this is the perfect platform to introduce Mysuru's heritage, culture and Dasara festival's importance. Also on such occasions, efforts must be put to see that new and unique things related to places are gleaned, he pointed out.

QUIZ CONTEST: Tourism Department Deputy Director H. Janardhan said that on Sept.27, divisional-level quiz contest has been arranged for children at Mysore Palace.

Reacting to this, District in-charge Minister V. Somanna said that in Children's Dasara Sports, even physically challenged children must be given preference to participate, besides creating a clean and conducive atmosphere by providing basic amenities, prior to the commencement of activities, at Rajkumar and Vishnuvardhan Parks.

It must be seen that the grants given to the Girijans from the Kannada and Culture Department reaches them and also see that awareness is created among them about many of the Government programmes that they are entitled to, said Minister Ravi.

Kannada and Culture Department Assistant Director Chennappa said that the development works in many of the buildings like Samskritika Bhavan, Basava Bhavan, Kappadi Kshetra were in progress and nearly 364 artistes in the district were getting monthly stipend of Rs.1,500.

CSR INITIATIVE: He also informed the meeting that a proposal of Rs. 80 lakh had been sent to both Bank Note Paper Mill India Pvt. Ltd. (BNPMIPL) and Bharatiya Reserve Bank Note Mudran Pvt. Ltd. (BRBNMPL) to renovate Kalamandira's toilet facilities, seats, light and sound equipment and for the development of Kiru Rangamandira and other works under their CSR (Corporate Social Responsibility) activities.

Reacting to this, Minister Ravi said that Kalamandira must be technically well-equipped and there is a thinking to appoint a person to maintain the grand place and asked the Kannada and Culture Assistant Director to send a proposal in this regard.

He also directed him to send one more proposal to set up an International-level Exhibition Centre and to identify 100 acres of land for this purpose as the number of tourists to the city is going up year by year.

MLAs K. Mahadev and Tanveer Sait, Additional Deputy Commissioner B.R. Poornima, and other officials were present.

District Minister assures to clear dues of contractors

Mysuru, Sept.12(US)- To manage Dasara development works, a separate bank account will be opened in the name of Mysuru City Corporation (MCC) and a specified amount will be deposited and earmarked for the cause, said District Minister V. Somanna.

Addressing a meeting of contractors at MCC office here yesterday, Somanna assured the contractors that Rs. 15 crore would be released soon — Rs. 5 crore for Dasara works and Rs. 10 crore due from MCC. He said that the Government would protect the interests of the contractors and appealed them to deliver good and quality work to uphold the heritage and beauty of the city.

Mayor Pushpalatha Jagannath, Deputy Mayor Shafi Ahmed, MCC Commissioner Gurudatta Hegde and others were present.

Delay in extending flood relief

Mega convention of farmers in Bagalkot on Sept. 15; Bengaluru on Oct. 4

Mysuru, Sept.12 (SPN&US)- Karnataka Rajya Raitha Sangha (KRRS) and Hasiru Sene together have decided to hold a mammoth convention on Sept. 15 in Bagalkot and another one on Oct. 4 in Bengaluru Freedom Park to condemn the inaction of Central and State Governments to provide relief to flood victims and aggrieved farmers.

Disclosing this at a press meet at the Karnataka State Agricultural Market Study Centre on Hunsur Road here, KRRS President Badagalapura Nagendra alleged that the report submitted by officials of the Government and the one compiled by KRRS differed totally. He pointed out that the standard guidelines stipulated by the Central Government to assess the flood havoc are unscientific and irrational which would be highlighted in the two conventions.

He added that Bharatiya Kisan Sangh, Swaraj India and other farmer organisations will support the conventions.

Elected unopposed

Mysuru, Sept. 12- S. Maridevaiah, Research Scholar, Department of Studies in Economics and Co-operation, Manasagangothri, has been elected unanimously as the President of University of Mysore Research Scholars Association for the year 2019-20 during the AGM held yesterday, according to a press release.

S. Maridevaiah

Krishnamallegowda was elected unopposed as the new President of University of Mysore Employees Housing Co-operative Society in the elections held recently. The post had fallen vacant after a no-confidence motion was passed last month against the then President K.G. Gowda, according to a press release.

Krishnamallegowda

GTTC: Admission to courses

Mysuru, Sept. 12- Government Toolroom and Training Centre (GTTC) has invited applications from candidates who have passed B.E, B.Tech and Diploma for admission to one year post-diploma course in Tool Design and two-year M. Tech in Tool Engineering. For details visit GTTC, Plot 93 and 94, Belagola industrial area, off KRS road, Mysuru-16 or call Mob:91416-29594 or 91416-29599, according to a press release.

Appeal to girl's parents

Mysuru, Sept. 12- The VV Puram Police have appealed the caretakers, if any, of an 6-year-old girl sheltered in a city shelter home, to contact the Police Station.

Kanya

In a press release, the Police said that the child named Kanya has been sheltered at Bapuji Children's Home, Gokulam, after she was brought by a woman on May 1, 2014, who claimed that the child's mother had died during delivery and that her father was indifferent to taking care of the child. As the parents of the girl are yet to be traced, the Police have issued this notice, as they have to initiate legal action against the parents after tracing them. The girl is 6-year-old, wheatish in complexion, oval faced and speaks Kannada.

For details call VV Puram Police Station on Ph: 0821-2418314 or 2418514.

The making of sudharma

A long battle for survival

Since its inception on July 15, 1970, Sudharma has successfully fought a long battle to survive against odds. Remembering his father Geervana Vani Bhushanam Vidhyanidhi Kalale Nadaadur Varadaraja Iyengar who started the Sanskrit daily 50 years ago, his son Sampath Kumar, who now has taken the responsibility of fulfilling his father's dreams said "my father, Varadaraja Iyengar made all efforts to spread awareness about Sanskrit and started the newspaper to fulfil the high expectations of Sanskrit lovers. He was also instrumental in starting Sanskrit News in All India Radio."

"Earlier, the language was restricted to one section of society. But this is not true. Anyone can learn this language which is part of our culture. People can subscribe to this newspaper that costs just Rs. 500 per year," he said.

4,000 copies a day

"Currently, circulation is 4,000 copies per day and online edition is also available, but with more number of subscribers and support from advertisers, I am hopeful that we can certainly reach a wider audience. From Kashmir to Badari and Rajasthan to US and Europe, we have readers from all over the world." he added.

"My father was into publishing since 1940s. After we bought our own 'Golding Jobber' printing machine in 1956, we started publishing books and other materials, which we still continue to do other than our Sanskrit daily. In those days itself, we had done four-colour printing," he reveals ecstatically.

Hand-in-hand with husband

Jayalakshmi has been the backbone of the publication, working tirelessly with her husband. "Every day, both of us are totally involved from typesetting and proofreading of the articles to making printouts and later pasting stamps and addresses to deliver the newspaper to households," she explained. Now they have three assistants working for them who help in their daily tasks.

She also says that publication is planning to organise two programmes every month to promote Sanskrit where scholars will participate and educate the general public. But mere passion can take a venture only so far, and the couple are now seeking support. Their printing press named Sree Kantha Power Press, set up in 1945, was the first in Mysore to turn digitised in 1988.

Costs involved

They need one-and-a-half paper rim, which cost more than Rs. 1,000, to bring out one edition. Apart from paying the printing staff, they also spend money on maintaining machines. On an average, they spend Rs. 4,000 a day for paper, ink and printing.

Girl education

Listing out many firsts in the history of Mysuru, post-Independence, when there was much debate about offering education to girls, Varadaraja Iyengar tried to break the taboo and started 'Srikantha Samskruthi Sangha' and started a school for girls in 1963.

He was also instrumental in starting the tradition of celebrating Sri Vedanta Deshika's Thirunakshatra Mahotsavam in Sri Krishna, Varaha and Lakshmiramana temples located at Mysore Palace premises, which coincides with Dasara festival. Sri Vedanta Desika was a Sri Vaishnava guru/ philosopher. The great saint is considered to be divine bell of Tirupati Venkateshwara and his 750th birth anniversary was celebrated last year (2018).

Newspaper bundles are being sorted and rolled after the printing is done.

Yi organises sessions on organ donation

Mysuru, Sept.12- 'Gift An Organ' awareness sessions on organ donation were organised by Young Indians (Yi) at Vinyas Innovative Technologies Pvt. Ltd., and Theorem India Pvt. Ltd., here recently.

The sessions were conducted to create awareness and educate the employees of the companies about this noble cause. About 200 employees attended the sessions by Ayurvedic Company Private Limited Managing Director Dr. Y. Karthik Pandit and Ayurvedic Consultant S. N. Pandit.

The 'Gift An Organ' initiative was started as a joint effort by Confederation of Indian Industry (CII) and Yi.

This initiative that started in 2015 was collaboration between all leading hospitals in the city that were involved in organ transplantation. In the year 2016, 'Gift An Organ' became a National Project for Yi and was adopted by all the 40 Chapters across the country. The initiative, which had its roots in Coimbatore, is now a national initiative, spearheading a national movement, spreading awareness on organ donation.

"We are not here to change human habit, but simply to correct unwarranted belief. With the large population India is always famed for, changing the mind-set of few hundred thousand would be the aim of the project — which could hopefully mean changing the life stories of a few people who lie in wait for organ donors. Almost everyone reading this would nod their heads at the idea of organ donation but very few of us actually have taken those 10 minutes to pledge our organs," say the event organisers.

Yi - Chapter Chair Ghanashyam Murali, Yi Members Sneha Ghanashyam, S.D. Soumya, Nikhil Koundinya and Raghavendra Rao Mane were present during the sessions.

Students urged to develop proper self-esteem

Dr. N. Prahallada, Associate Professor in Education (retd.), Regional Institute of Education (RIE) is seen with Shivananda Bharathi, Prof. K.S. Suresh and Nandini during the orientation programme organised by JSS Law College at its premises in city recently. Picture left shows a section of students attending the event.

Mysuru, Sept.12- "Self-esteem is defined as an individual's overall subjective emotional evaluation of his or her own worth and it is the decision made by an individual as an attitude towards the self," said Dr. N. Prahallada, Associate Professor in Education (retd.), Regional Institute of Education (RIE).

He was delivering a special lecture on 'How to develop Self-esteem?' for the students of Law, as part of their orientation programme, organised by JSS Law College at the College auditorium here recently.

"Self-esteem, a feeling of recognition and a sense of worth, is an important human need. Self-esteem is our attitude to other people's opinion about us. It gives us self-confidence. It can act as a catalyst to keep us active and not to be easily content with ourselves," he said.

"Most of the problems in our life might be due to lack of self-esteem. But there are a few ways to improve self-esteem like not to judge other people. To judge others, is to put yourself in a place where you are thinking you are better than them, which is not a healthy self-esteem. Meditate every day. Being in silence with yourself improves your positive thinking. Do have a good sense of humour, this will boost better image of yourself, and celebrate your success everyday even if it is something that seems to be small," said Dr. Prahallada.

As many as 180 students from BA LLB(Hons), BBA LLB (Hons) and LLB students attended the lecture. Prof. K.S. Suresh, Chief Executive, JSS Law College, Shivananda Bharathi, Nandini and others were present.

WORD OF THE DAY

Brackish

Pronunciation: BRACK-ish.
Meaning: Somewhat salty; not appealing to the taste; repulsive.
Origin: When the word brackish first appeared in English in the 1500s, it simply meant "salty," as did its Dutch parent brac. Then, as now, brackish water could simply be a mixture of saltwater and freshwater. Since that time, however, brackish has developed the additional meanings of "unpalatable" or "distasteful"—presumably because of the undrinkable quality of saltwater. "The brackish water that we drink / Creeps with a loathsome slime, / And the bitter bread they weigh in scales / Is full of chalk and lime." As this use from Oscar Wilde's "Ballad of Reading Gaol" illustrates, brackish water can also include things other than salt that make it unpleasant to drink.
Example: "For decades, the Battleship Texas has rested in the shallow, brackish waters of the Houston Ship Channel, slowly decaying. While tourists marvel at the last surviving dreadnought that fought in two world wars, beneath the surface a system of pumps pushes out water seeping through the ship's corroded hull." — Nick Powell, The Houston Chronicle.

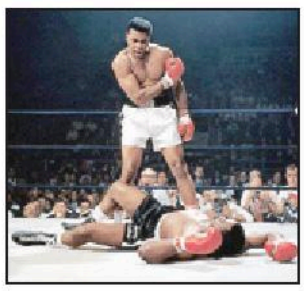
THE ODD WORD

Babirusa

Large wild pig of Indonesia.

PHRASE OF THE DAY

Beat the living daylights out of someone



Meaning: To beat them severely, to the point where they lose consciousness.
Origin: We don't know the precise first use of the expression 'beat the living daylights out of' but we can say that it originated in the USA in the late 19th century as a variant of earlier similar expressions. The release of the 1987 film The Living Daylights, the fifteenth in the James Bond series, reawakened usage of this old phrase. When we refer to someone having the living daylights beaten, scared, or knocked out of them, we just mean that they have been badly beaten or scared, or knocked unconscious. The imagery is of someone being so discomfited as to lose the power of sight. Like similar examples, such as 'beat the stuffing out of', the phrase is often used with an air of exaggeration and not always meant to be taken literally.
The original 18th century meaning of 'daylights' was quite specific and literal; it meant 'eyes'. That meaning has now long fallen out of use. The first known citation of the word is one such example, in Henry Fielding's novel Amelia, 1752: "Good woman! I don't use to be so treated. If the lady says such another word to me, d--n me, I will darken her daylights."
